The Green Ambassador Award:

The Green Ambassador Award is one of the most coveted honors in the environmental sector, given to individuals and organizations who demonstrate extraordinary contributions to environmental conservation and wildlife rehabilitation. The award highlights the need for urgent action to combat climate change, restore ecosystems, and protect endangered species, while recognizing those who are leading the charge in these areas.

DocRoSh Global Foundation's receipt of this award underscores its dedication to being Guardians of the Planet through proactive conservation strategies, ecological awareness, and humanitarian outreach.

Looking Ahead:

With this recognition, DocRoSh Global Foundation has vowed to continue its mission to build a greener, more sustainable world. The FORESTER Initiative will expand its programs across India and beyond, with a special focus on reforestation, anti-poaching efforts, wildlife rehabilitation, and policy advocacy aimed at creating long-lasting environmental solutions.

As the Foundation forges ahead, it calls upon individuals, governments, and organizations to unite in this shared mission of protecting the planet. "This award belongs to every individual who believes that protecting the Earth is a responsibility we all share. Together, we can create a future where nature and humanity thrive in harmony," Dr. Palewar said.
